

Objectives

dib is dedicated to achieving equal opportunities for women in education, employment, and family life by promoting change inside and outside the workplace.

dib focuses on challenging and changing existing male/female stereotypes and the classical division of tasks in society and in the home.

dib also promotes comprehensive concepts for social and environmentally compatible technologies.

Membership

Membership is open to women engineers and scientists and female students in the fields of engineering and science.

Won't You Join Us?

-  Are you a woman in engineering who is moving to Germany?
-  Would you like to exchange ideas with women engineers in Germany?
-  Could you benefit by establishing connections with an active, creative German network?

Contact our network of women in engineering to share experiences and participate in our conferences, seminars, get-togethers, and more.
